Where it all Started

In March 2018 with exceptional support of our customers and the trust that they have in our abilities from years of experience on site and working closely on various projects, we were able to start our company.

Having extensive experience in the following industries: Pharmaceutical, paper pulp, dairy, food and beverage and various water treatment and reticulation projects, we have been able to grow our team with amazing people with skills in design, welding, fabrication, and on-site installations.

Our Philosophy

Quality

We are passionate about quality and believe that this will be the cornerstone of our growth and success!

Our experience and knowledge gained from having worked in diverse industries has enabled us to train our artisans on the specific requirements of the industries. Site surveillance's and follow-up checks with our clients on an on-going basis by our quality department enable us to achieve and maintain and continuously improve on high quality standards.

Delivery

We have gained the confidence of our customers by ensuring timeous delivery.

Progress tracking and efficiency checks are carried out on a regular basis to ensure that all milestones are reached. Our clients are kept informed of the status of the project.

Our Core Values

Passionate

Our hands on training approach show cases each of our team's unique strengths and we work with them to grow and perfect these passions.

Customer Centric

With our team now based on several sites in Kwa-Zulu Natal ensuring our customers get that same time service delivery.

People Focused

We want to see our teams and customers working to their best abilities, for this we ensure that our teams have the right nurturing and strong leadership and guidance.

Innovative

Using the most up to date methods and equipment we can offer our customers state of the art solutions from concept, design, and application.

Our Orbital Welder

Our state-of-the-art orbital welder has helped SLAMfab in staying up-to-date with the latest industry guidelines and best practices. Our company has strengthened its position as a trusted partner in providing orbital welding solutions for critical applications. We offer these services to our clients in South Africa and Africa.

Our team is committed to implementing the correct procedures in every application for the unique requirements of clients across various industries.
